RareBooksClub. Paperback. Book Condition: New. This item is printed on demand. Paperback. 64 pages. OCLC Number: (OCoLC)457255962 Subject: Water quality -- United States -- Measurement -- Handbooks, manuals, etc. Excerpt: . . . I. Utility Management F. Does the operating staff have the authority to make re-quired emergency response decisions Are there any policies that could prevent staff members from responding to emergencies effectively The inspector should determine if any restrictions limit the decision-making authority of the operations staff. Would this have a negative impact on the systems ability to respond to an emergency Examples of limited decision-making authority include the lack of authority to adjust chemical feed, hire an electrician, or purchase a critical piece of equipment. Examples of limited administrative policies include lack of support for training and insufficient system funding. G. Are administrators familiar with, and accountable for, security needs Key management personnel should be familiar with security requirements that apply to their system. They should have first-hand knowledge of system needs through security needs assess-ments, plant visits, and frequent discussions with operators. Lack of first-hand knowledge may result in poor performance, poor decisions, and inadequate response to emergencies. H. Is there a formal and adequate planning process The lack of long-range plans for facility replacement, alternative sources of water, and emergency response can adversely affect a systems long-term and emergency operations performance. Proper emergency response requires careful planning and prac-tice. Planning should also include a priority ranking for funding for your security needs. I. Is a hazard communication program in place The system should have an inventory of all hazardous chemicals, a Material Safety Data Sheet ( MSDS ) for each chemical in its inventory, and written procedures for using, transporting, and handling these chemicals. J. Is there a procedure to receive notification of a suspected...
